Ashley Tisdale, Voices in My Head

I got these feelings I try to bury down But they keep screamin’
And I’m just tryin' to filter out somehow But they don't wanna leave (Leave, leave) no you don’t need it all the jealously and ugly feelings left from my history I try so hard but they get the best of me and you got every reason to walk out the door but you’d rather be next to me

all the voices n my head always try to break me
fuck me up and change me
but talk is cheap
this is the last time
I listen to the voices in my head always sabotaging

and when we’re fighting they get in the way and start a fire but you never let us burn away you got me figured out

always sabotaging

they say that I’ll never be ready for love they say that I never will feel like enough they lie to me
and they like to you
but you know the truth is
