Celine Dion, Lying Down

I didn’t mean to fall in deep but I’ve no regrets you tried to push me down you tried to keep me possessed

I gave you my heart you took the key but now I paid my debt it’s time I left and I don’t need someone who makes me feel so bad and I’ve just enough left to help me pack my bags

I have found something I thought I lost
I found me
I found faith
I found trust

you can’t take this form me
can’t you see I won’t take this lying down
and I can hear you when you speak your poison bitter words can’t hurt me now
I won’t take it lying down all it takes is one bold move to change everything all it takes is loving you to forget, forgive but I am having same kind of breakthrough I am ready to live

and I don’t need someone who makes me feel so bad
and I’ve just enough left to help me pack my bags
I have found something I thought I lost
I found me
I found faith
I found trust

you can’t take this form me
can’t you see I won’t take this lying down
and I can hear you when you speak your poison
bitter words can’t hurt me now
I won’t take it lying down

I won’t take it lying down
I won’t take it lying down
I won’t take it lying down
I won’t take it lying down

you can’t take this form me
can’t you see I won’t take this lying down
and I can hear you when you speak your poison
bitter words can’t hurt me now
I won’t take it lying down

I won’t take it lying down
I won’t take it lying down
I won’t take it lying down
I won’t take it lying down