HAIM, Now I'm In It

looking in the mirror again and again wishing the reflection would tell me something I can’t get a hold of myself I can’t get outta this situation walking in a straight line thinking about last time the time I said I would do this right said I would never break this promises and now I am back to counting on us cause now I am in it but I’ve been trying to find my way back for a minute damn, I am in it and I’ve been trying to find my way back for a minute wanna cannot be friends cannot pretend

that it makes sense
wanna cannot be friends
cannot pretend
that it makes sense

walking to my house I am alone in my head but I wish you were in my bed can’t get a read on myself gotta change this situation something I know that I found when I woke up told me that I shouldn’t give in, give up hope told me that I shouldn’t fight what I left told me I should not let go cause

wanna cannot be friends
cannot pretend
that it makes sense

cause now I am in it
but I’ve been trying to find my way back for a minute
damn, I am in it
and I’ve been trying to find my way back for a minute
cause now I am in it
but I’ve been trying to find my way back for a minute
and the rain keeps coming down along the ceiling and I can hear it
cut I can’t feel it, oh!

took me so long to fall now I am in it
now I am in it!

but I’ve been trying to find my way back for a minute
and the rain keeps coming down along the ceiling
and I can hear it
cut I can’t feel it, oh!