Martin Garrix, Drown (feat. Clinton Kane)

I’ve been trying to keep my distance but In an instant
you break me down

I know better than to want you but I succumb to you without a doubt now the water is rising and I’m too tired to swim

and my lungs
just can’t take it
but I keep breathing you in so

tell ne lies
tell me painted truths
anything at all
to keep me close to you pull me under the way you do tonight I wanna drown in an ocean of you anything to keep me close to you

tonight I wanna drown in an ocean of you
tonight I wanna drown in an ocean of you
tonight I wanna drown in an ocean of you

I’m so used to your excuses that when you bruise me I stick around

no point trying to make it our now rather be sinkng then go without!

and now the water is rising
and I’m too tired to swim
and my lungs
just can’t take it
but I keep breathing you in
so

tell ne lies
tell me painted truths
anything at all
to keep me close to you
pull me under the way you do
tonight I wanna drown in an ocean of you

anything to keep me close to you
tonight I wanna drown in an ocean of you
tonight I wanna drown in an ocean of you
tonight I wanna drown in an ocean of you