Marysia Stachera, One world of colours

Don’t you think That;s been to long Drawning these boundry lines

What we all need
It to love
One another standing unifid

No matter where i call home
No matter what i promiese you

I’ll be ight there
My heart is open Ready to listen ready to love we’re mmore like than we are different so take my hannd
keep your head up!
