Kygo, Remind Me to Forget (ft. Miguel)

it never fades away, it’s staying your kiss like broken glass on my skin and all the greatest loves end in violence it’s tearing up my voice, left in silence baby, it hit so hard, holding on to my chest maybe you left your mark, reminding me to forget it doesn’t matter where you are you can keep my regret

cause baby, I got this scars reminding me to forget Reminding me, I got this scars, get your love Keep reminding me, to forget your love

you left your mark
you left your mark
reminding me to forget
you left your mark
you left your mark
you left your mark
you left your mark
reminding me to forget
you left your mark
you left your mark

there’s no room in the war for feeling hurt me to core, still healing and I know you’re no good for me so I try forget the memories

baby, it hit so hard, holding on to my chest
maybe you left your mark, reminding me to forget
it doesn’t matter where you are
you can keep my regret
cause baby, I got this scars reminding me to forget

you left your mark
you left your mark
reminding me to forget
you left your mark
you left your mark
you left your mark
you left your mark
reminding me to forget
you left your mark
you left your mark

Remember I told you
to save it, it’s over
and I’ll be alright
so hurt m as much as you like I need you to let go
I got these mementos
and I’ll be alright

you left your mark
you left your mark
reminding me to forget
you left your mark
you left your mark
you left your mark
you left your mark
reminding me to forget
you left your mark
you left your mark