Charlie Puth, Sick

what am i supposed to say I wanna look you in the eyes and tell you it's ok but I can't hurts to know at the end of the day all I can do is hope cold me to my core cause I don't know anymore no the heroes don't fall out the sky that was before you got sick before you bound out before when everything was perfect but now it's all upside down if God could grant me o wish for today I would take your pain

and take your place right now everything night, every dat you're a fighter but you never showed it on your face I don't know what I would do baby I would be so lost if I ever lost you in my dreams, there I used to see from the distance I'd watch you fly

if God could grant me o wish for today

I wanna hold all of your tears and use them all yo wash away the hurt I wanna save you from your fears just get you back the way you were

before you bound out
if God could grant me o wish for today
if God could grant me o wish for today
