

Demi Lovato, Still Have Me

I am a mess and i am still broken
But i am finding my way back
And it feels liek someone's stolen
All the light i ever had

Like the world disappeared
And i am laying right here
While the silence is piercing
And it hurts to breathe

I don't have much but at least
I still have me
I still have me
And that's all i need
So take my faith but at least
I still have me
And that's all i need
I don't have much but at least
I still have me

Everything around me shattered
All the highs are now just low
But it doesn't even matter
'cause i'd rather be alone

All my love disappeared
And i am laying right here
While the silence is piercing
And it hurts to breathe

I don't have much but at least
I still have me
I still have me
And that's all i need
So take my faith but at least
I still have me
And that's all i need
I don't have much but at least
I still have me

I don't have much
But at least i still have me
i still have me

I don't have much but at least
I still have me
I still have me
And that's all i need
So take my faith but at least
I still have me
And that's all i need
I don't have much but at least
I still have me