

Katy Perry, Power

I was fine before I met you
Truth is that I lost myself inside you
It is not fair to put all that on you
But you took control of a vulnerable soul

I am my mother's daughter
And there are so many things I love about her
But I have, I have to break the cycle
So I can sit first at the dinner table

You can clip my wings
Can't wield my powers
Stole my time
But I make up the hours
Cause I;m a goodness and you know it
Some respect, you better show it
I'm done waiting
Siphoning my powers
Power

I light no fury like a woman
Reborn
And I;m burning like a blue flame
Once more
But don't mistake my warm for weakness
Don't bite the head down it
I'll never eat, no!

You can clip my wings
Can't wield my powers
Stole my time
But I make up the hours
Cause I;m a goodness and you know it
Some respect, you better show it
I'm done waiting
Siphoning my powers
Power

And now I;m taking it back
Electric as fuck
You can't quiet this thunder, o
I;m taking it back
And all the way up
Even in the dark I glow!

You can clip my wings
Can't wield my powers
Stole my time
But I make up the hours
Cause I;m a goodness and you know it
Some respect, you better show it
I'm done waiting
Siphoning my powers
Power