La Roux, Automatic Driver

In time will i understand it we can fight till it's light doesn't mend it do you still dream we're alright and we'll find it what if I tell you lies and demand it and demand it baby how many times you're not listening right n my mind I know it's alright

but then you find you're lost in the fight and now you've brorken the love of your life or you're just blinded