

OneRepublic, Future Looks Good

I woke up staring at this, staring at this empty room
Looked at thousand different pictures that your mother took from you
You see I had this crazy dream last night, this man, he talked to me
He told me everything that's good and bad about my history

But he said that you are, you are the future!
He said that you are, you are the future
And the future looks good, the future looks good

Call me any time that every time you're losing it
And tell me anyone and everyone who makes you feel like shit
Because you know anybody, everybody else can lie
But honey I won't see you with a, see you with a broken set of eyes

I swear that you are, you are the future
I swear that you are, you are the future
And the future looks good, the future looks good
The future looks good, the future looks good

You, you, you
You, you, you

I woke up staring at this, staring at this empty room
Looked at thousand different pictures that your mother took form you