

Professor Green, Rag'n'Bone Man, Photographs

wish that i took more photographs of us said goodbye now our love's collecting dust just a memory of you is not enough I wish that I took more photographs of us

I can't believe I left you feeling solo I was just a Nan's going through old photos and you ain't many of them you're barely in any of them

3 or 4 of them
I wish you were in more of them I just wish there more of them cause now all I got is memories and I cry but that river's run dry if only time was something money could buy goodbye but it ain't with words thee's only so many pictures I can paint and I'm running out of film now there's only so many pictures I can take how does faith feel looking at pictures of B? how does Courtney fel looking at pictures of urt?

Is the pain worth the 1000 words, I love you but I hate looking at pictures of you cause it hurts

said goodbye now
just a memory of you is not enough

we all though we'd live forever wa all though that the moments would last but the moments don't last the moments pass and the only thing that lasts is the photograph but what about the pictures we didn't take? what about the moments that we forget? what about the memories that we've lost? that only leave you full of feelings and regret over the people we neglected and the time we took for granted when all you can do is closed your eyes and hope that the memories develop in the darkness like photos do, I wish I had a time-machine and a photo-booth I know to grow I;ve got to learn to let go but I just whis that I had something I could hold on to

just a memory of you is not enough
